Note from the Director

by Matt Cox

The reviews aren't always good. We love sharing testimonies of those whose lives have been impacted by their time at the Ranch. We realize that the work done here in hearts and lives is all to the glory of God. He's in the business of changing lives and eternities; we're simply in communications. But the reviews aren't always positive.

Of course we appreciate critical feedback as it helps us to know how to be more effective in what we do, but sometimes those critiques are difficult to hear. When you're in a service industry, it is important to know how people best feel served. It's also crucial that there aren't issues that distract from the Gospel Message.

Proverbs 27:5-6 - "Better is open rebuke than hidden love. Faithful are the wounds of a friend; profuse are the kisses of an enemy."

I've had meetings where an individual opens with this verse. You know they love you, but they're also about to tell you something that may be hard to hear. Other times critique does not come from a trusted and loving source. But despite the delivery, our pride is what makes criticism so difficult to digest. We don't like being reminded that we're fallible and capable of offending or falling short. To put it bluntly, we don't like being reminded that we're not perfect, we're not God. We may define ourselves one way, but God often uses other people to show us our true selves.

Criticism can remind us to be humble. It can expose our pride, misplaced values, and reveals our desire for control. How we receive it tells us a lot about ourselves.

Though it can be hard, it is also a blessing. If we never saw our sin, we wouldn't embrace the need for our Savior. Even as believers, having our sin exposed helps us appreciate the grace and mercy that He bestows on us. When we're shown our failings in the light of God's holiness, we can rejoice all the more in His forgiveness that is so freely given. We can celebrate the fact that instead of letting us live in our sin, He gently corrects, restores, and helps us to walk in greater fellowship with Him.

The reviews may not always be good, but when God does His refining work, we can be grateful for the feedback, both positive and challenging.

Progress Report

by Donnie Rosie

Hopefully you have seen pictures and heard about the finishing of the new bunkhouse. This multi-year project was exciting to finish. It was used every week of Summer Camp and Family Camp and will be continued to be used throughout our Fall retreats. It is a huge blessing to have another full-season structure to use all winter long for those who visit the Ranch. As you know, the Ranch is almost 60 years old so although we have made progress we need to continue to be diligent to upgrade housing.

The Cattleman's Hotel has been identified as the next project. We would like to fully renovate this structure so that it can more adequately host our guests during all seasons. Would you consider helping us with this project? Our goal is to raise $100,000. Because it is just a renovation we can start as soon as we have some support for the project. The goal will be to finish the project by next summer.

We also ask for your support for our General Fund that helps with day to day operations. Finally, we ask for your support for our Scholarship Fund. Without support from others we would not be able to offer this ministry to serve those that come or are impacted on and off the ranch. Thank you to each one of you who have given of yourself through volunteering, prayer, or finances to help support the Ranch throughout this past year. We look forward to serving together during our 2023 Camp and Retreat season.

Glimpse Into Our Lives

by Jenni Cox

Throughout the summer, we welcomed three babies into our staff family. David James was born to Nathan and Kelsey Snyder on June 11th. It is fun to see their family grow and be involved around camp. Daniel and Cherish Benedict welcomed their first child, Caroline Jane on August 10th. It is so sweet to watch these two become parents and Caroline is just the cutest! Josh and Alyssa Bridges welcomed their precious son, Jedidiah Thomas on September 1st. Tessa is so excited to be a big sister! We are looking forward to watching these babies grow and learn to love the Lord.

As we start this new school year, we are welcoming 6 new staff members. Josiah Gross will be joining our programming department to help plan and lead our many retreats. Hunter Uplinger is our newest barn staff member. She will be taking over a lot of the administrative side of the barn as well as being a lead instructor for our SOD students. Kyle Hilton is our new Marketing Manager and will be overseeing the media team, photographing retreats, and posting on social media. Caitrin Allen will be taking over the Receptionist position since Cherish will be moving into a part time role to care for baby Caroline. Melissa Beckman is our new Housekeeper as Katy Harlan is switching from housekeeper to our programming department. Both of these gals are so vital to our guest services. Hannah Landis, a recent summer staffer, will be working in our Food Service department. We are so thankful for each and every one of our staff members and their commitment to serving here. They are all in the early stages of raising their support to be on staff so if you are interested in coming alongside them in this way, you can visit our website: mrrm.org/about/staff/support.

Christina Coder, who worked in both our kitchen and equine departments while on staff has recently finished her time here with us. She has remained in the local area so we are still able to see her frequently. We are so grateful for Christina's time spent in service with us here.

SCHOOL OF DISCIPLESHIP

This time of year, the School of Discipleship is alive with the excitement of new beginnings. At the beginning of September we inducted a new class: 18 first-year students and eleven second-year students. Our first-years have had a flurry of orientation classes in their first several weeks: from learning the ins and outs of the kitchen to finding their way around the Ranch to the basics of wrangling, our students are doing it all.

In addition to the furor of activity around camp, the students are hard at work in the classroom this fall. Bible Hermeneutics, Technology and the Christian Life, and Conflict Resolution are just some of the classes our students have had in their first several weeks of the program.

What is the goal of all this activity? The Great Commission tells us (Matthew 28.18-20). In it, we see that Christ has given us work to do: the risen Lord Jesus told his followers to disciple the nations, and an essential part of that discipleship is teaching all that Christ has commanded. Christ is Lord of heaven and earth, and so our discipleship includes everything under the sun. It's a big job, but we're not alone; as he told his first followers, "Behold, I am with you always, to the end of the age."
